

Building Activity

Homes, Garages And Repairs Planned, Salem Permits Show

Building permits obtained at Mayor Harry Vincent's office last week show the building plans and dreams of local residents have passed into the actual construction stage.

J. G. Smith secured a permit to build a ranch type home at 803 Highland ave. Brick veneer construction will be used and the cost has been estimated at $20,000.

J. R. Kerr, Jr. is building his new $10,000 home at 1265 E. 10th st. It will have a brick veneer exterior and will be constructed along ranch type lines.

Others are repairing their homes. Norman Pederson took out a permit to do $500 worth of repairing on the house at 1004 S. Lincoln ave.

Lee Heineman will build a frame porch and make minor alterations on his home at 866 N. Ellsworth ave. The approximate cost of this work is $250.

E. A. Yeager will make general repairs on his house at 860 Jennings ave. The estimated cost is $200.

only a short time and a modest outlay to convert unused cellar space into recreation quarters for the whole family.

Radiant Heat Used

A new idea in panel heating is being used by a Long Island builder. The panel or radiant heat is provided by a honeycomb of ordinary three-cell clay partition tile arranged in the concrete slab floor to create heating panels. One of the tile heating panels exhausts into the living room.

Through this outlet the furnace delivers warm air in less than 15 minutes offsetting the two-hour lag in the floor panels. A return grill is located near the floor in the bedroom hall close to the heating plant.

Labor and materials amount to about $725 for footings, concrete slab and tile work. The builder boasts that the floor costs him no more than other builders spend for four or five inch slab floors without radiant heating.

Two Cans Suggested

It is false economy to rely on only one garage can for household use, sanitation authorities assert. Too often, they point out, a home owner overloads his one garage can to the point where it is ineffectual in keeping animal and insect pests out of refuse.

Modern steel garbage cans are designed with close-fitting covers and are made of sturdy metal and resist animal and insect attacks. But these containers must be covered at all times. Otherwise, authorities point out, they are only slightly more effective than cardboard or wooden boxes.

Since keeping garbage can covers safe from theft and accidental damage is sometimes a problem, home owners are advised to attach them by a rope or chain to a fence or post near garbage cans. When cans are to be emptied, their covers remain in a safe spot.

Good Roof Cheaper

The home owner who roofs his house with permanent, fireproof roofing not only is taking an important step in the direction of safety for his family but in addition is freeing himself from expensive roof repairs and increasing the value of his home, builders assert.

They explain that combustible roofs are a major source of residential fires. Roofing which deteriorates from ordinary causes, they add, requires costly maintenance over a period of years and lessens the resale value of a house.

Pilot Homes Planned

Five to eight pilot houses in the "Good American Home Program," sponsored by the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association and the United States Savings & Loan Association are to be built in Greater Cleveland this spring and opened for 30 days to the public.

Detroit has opened its first pilot house in this program, eight having been built there. The automobile capital is the pilot city in the national program.

DIES AT 104

DEFIANCE, May 22—(AP)—A physician said a cold led to the death yesterday of Miss Emma L. Walter, who celebrated her 104th birthday in August. He said the cold, contracted several days ago, overtaxed her heart.

Many people believe that the one billion dollars authorized by congress may be applied only for condemnation and demolition work.

Actually, the fund can be used for: planning; legal expenses; acquisition of land; demolition; site improvement; and the cost of making the land available to public and private authorities for redevelopment.

Basement Is 'Tops'

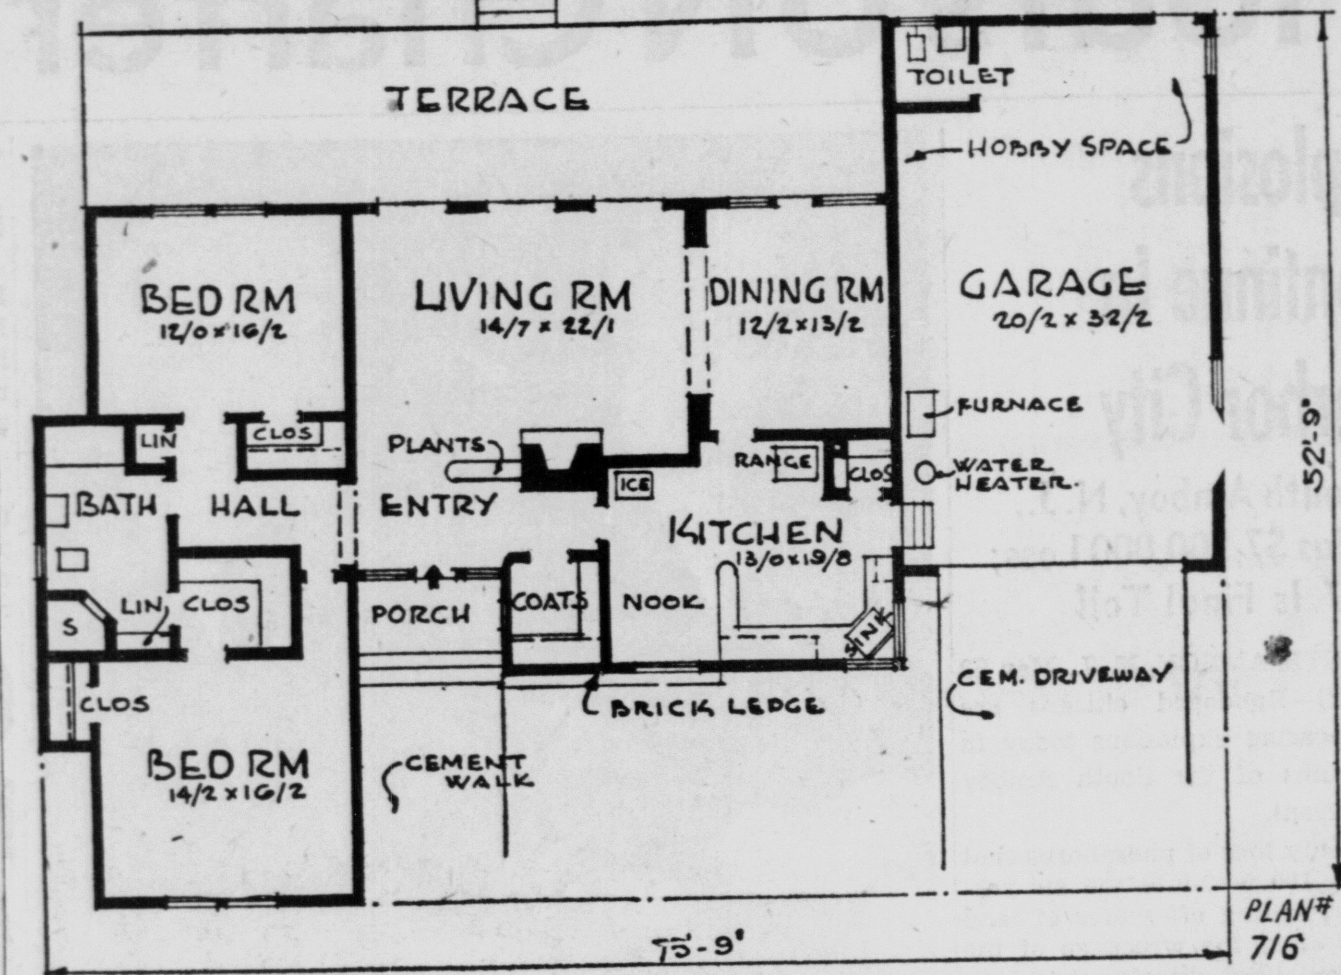

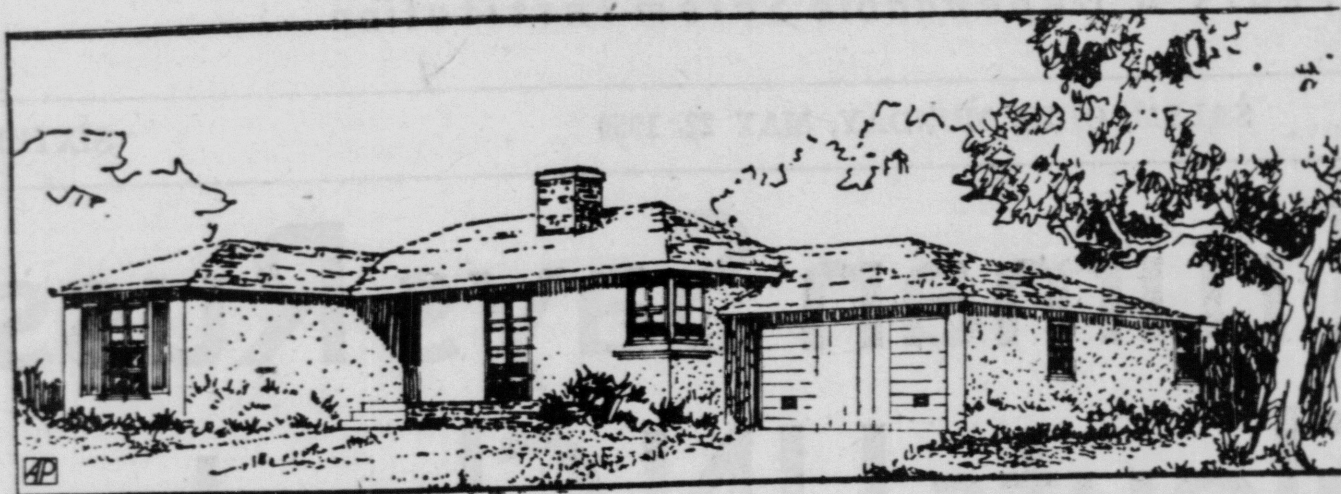

The basement, according to home remodelers, is an economical and handy location for a family activities room. If the basement is dry and has adequate ventilation there is practically no limit to what can be done in creating a game room, hobby shop, den, or utility room.

Keeping dampness out of a basement is a matter of treating inside masonry with one of the water-proofing preparations on the market. If windows do not provide sufficient ventilation, a window fan will help the situation.

Warm walls can be provided by using insulating board to build the finish walls and ceilings. The board can be applied over nailing strips attached to the masonry walls.

Successful basement rooms need not be elaborate. It takes

Duracleaning

For economy and convenience... have your upholstery and floor coverings Duracleaned by experts, right in your home. Watch the unusual care with which these craftsmen beautify your furnishings.

Duraclean means your fabric lasts longer because this modern, safe cleaning process erases strong soaps and chemicals which so often harm the dyes or fabric. Longer life too, because there is no wear, no breaking of fibers caused by machine scrubbing.

This patent protected service is recommended by America's leading furniture and department stores.

What Makes Duraclean "Different"

It cleans by absorption. Embedded dirt and grit are first removed by "deep suction." Many cleaning methods leave enough dirt-laden soap in your rugs and upholstery to cause "matting" or "rapid resoiling." Duracleaning avoids this.

The mild sanded Duraclean foam loosens and absorbs sticky soil and stains, holding this grime in suspension above the surface until removed.

No inconvenience! Duracleaned fabrics are dry in just a few hours. Special ingredients re-enliven wool fibers. Rug pile unsmats and rises. Colors revive. Your fabrics are left clean, fresh, enlivened... your home is more beautiful to live with.

Duraproof—If you wish, you may at the same time have your floor coverings, upholstery, clothing or furs Duraproofed. You have 4 years protection against damage from moths and carpet beetles. Also protects against mildew. The annual cost is lower than applying less effective moth solutions yourself. Have your fabrics Duraproofed today—before damage develops.

Building Materials Production Drops

WASHINGTON, May 22—(INS)—Commerce Department officials warn the nation is heading into trouble on the home-building front as a result of a drop in production of building materials.

Shortages of steel items, lumber and cement are in prospect next fall unless the picture changes.

The situation is not acute at this time. Most builders are in a position to obtain the materials they need. But the production of materials is not keeping pace with the record increase in home-building.

Instead of rising, materials output has been dropping since December. In January and February, production fell 15 per cent. Continued high volume homebuilding will put a terrific strain on manufacturers for practically every item used in the home. If materials aren't available, the resultant shortages may force prices up. Said one official:

"This summer we should know what the situation is. If there is no change, you can look for trouble in the fall. The probability is the trouble will be worse than just spot shortages."

Commerce said that "demand resulting from the record volume of new construction thus far this year will probably require an overall increase in output of materials in order to maintain stocks at a normal operational level." Officials declined, however, to estimate how much of an increase in production is required.

Business Is Not A Crime

OBSERVATIONS by a federal judge and an outstanding corporation executive on enforcement of anti-trust laws add to the impression that someone in the Department of Justice has gone haywire.

The judge, Alexander Holtzoff, declared from the bench in the District of Columbia a few days ago that anti-trust suits against business concerns have become so common it "has gotten to the point where the business community does not attach any stigma to indictments or convictions under the Sherman Act." Judge Holtzoff thereupon proceeded to read a judicial riot act to the United States attorneys who had cluttered up his court with a case which never should have been brought there in the first place.

A few days later, Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U.S. Steel Corp., was talking about the same situation in an address at Boston. The choice before businessmen, he pointed out, is whether to obey fair trade laws and draw an indictment for violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, or whether to obey the anti-trust law and get slapped down for violating fair trade laws. If a businessman tries to meet his competitor's price, Mr. Fairless explained, he will be suspected of collusion to fix prices. If he tries to undersell a competitor, the Federal Trade Commission will be after him. If he lets his competitor undercut him, he will be forced out of business.

As Justice Jackson once declared when he was head of the anti-trust division in the Department of Justice: "It is impossible for a lawyer to determine what business conduct will be pronounced lawful by the courts. The situation is embarrassing to businessmen wishing to obey the law and to government officials attempting to enforce it."

Meanwhile, the department seems intent on following the political line of the Truman administration, which is to the effect that anyone who has managed to stay in business should be held accountable for his success; i. e., he must be prepared to defend himself against the business-baiters.

The Way To Collect Is To Collect

ONE THING which must be said to the credit of the Kremlin is that its leading lights know what they want and proceed to get it. They don't fool themselves with soft soap. They don't even rely on soft soap to fool anyone else. They prefer scouring powder and steel wool.

The Western Allies currently are up in arms because the Kremlin has announced it will cancel approximately half of their reparations due from East Germany. This, they point out, is absurd on the face of it because Russia already has taken everything out of East Germany that wasn't nailed down—some $18,000,000,000 worth of booty.

But the fact is that East Germans already know their territory has been looted. The Russians didn't even try to be subtle about it. They loaded the loot on flat cars and shipped it home without any palaver whatever. Furthermore, they didn't even bother to pretend they wouldn't keep right on taking as much as they could get their hands on. Under the circumstances, the matter of not collecting half of more than $6,000,000,000 still due in official reparations is only a formality, but the kind calculated to make the East Germans think things might be worse.

Comparisons are obvious, but one wonders if the Russians incur any more ill will in the long run by taking what they think belongs to them than Americans seem likely to incur by forgiving their debtors. The rub is that the debtors, instead of being grateful and co-operative, seem to hold it against the United States for being generous enough to let them off the hook.

Keep Off Their Level

THE United States has ordered Czechoslovakia to reduce its American diplomatic staff, in retaliation for the Czechs' insistence that we cut our embassy staff in Prague by two-thirds.

Assuming that Czech diplomatic personnel in this country is loyal to the Communist regime in Prague, no one could feel much regret at any impending departures. For the diplomatic corps of the satellite nations, like that of Russia itself, probably constitutes a cloak for diligent espionage activities.

It seems unfortunate, though, that we frequently feel we must resort to reprisals in matters of this sort. The technique smacks of small-boy revenge. It's the very kind of thing the Russians themselves can most be counted upon to do.

The less often we permit ourselves to be maneuvered into positions where we must take reprisal, the better it will be.

An Oklahoma man saw his wife for the first time in five years. All women like shopping sprees.

Party Labels

By PETER EDSON

They Mean Less As Issues Unfold

WASHINGTON

THERE is one major issue in the 1950 political campaign which is now hard pressing upon the voters. There is no precise name for it. The old labels don't quite fit. It is more a state of mind, a sixth sense or a political "feel" which voters are being asked to decide upon and express.

For lack of better words, this issue might be defined as conservatism versus liberalism, reactionism versus progressivism or just plain Taftism versus Trumanism. It is in no sense a conflict between Republicans and Democrats, though these names still appear on the headquarters doors. The main issue is at stake within both the two major parties.

It was at stake in the Republican primary in Pennsylvania. The fight there was whether the old conservative G.O.P. machine under Joseph R. Grundy should remain in power. It was kicked out by a new progressive movement led by Gov. James H. Duff.

It was at stake in the Alabama primary. The fight there was over control of the State Democratic committee. The reactionary Dixiecrats lost.

CONSERVATISM versus liberalism is the issue in California. Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, seeking the Democratic senatorial nomination, is an all-out liberal. Manchester Boddy, publisher of the Los Angeles News, who is opposing her, has advocated many progressive policies, but is trying to rally the conservative strength of the Democratic party behind him. Whoever wins in this primary race will face Rep. Richard M. Nixon, Republican conservative.

It is the main issue in North Carolina, where liberal Democratic Senator Frank M. Graham is fighting to retain his seat against divided opposition. Willis Smith is a lawyer who is considered conservative, while ex-Senator Robert Reynolds is ultra-conservative.

Conservatism was the issue in the Oregon primary, where contests in both parties were to unseat progressive Republican Senator Morse.

This struggle for a political philosophy becomes apparent not only from trying to digest the 50 speeches made by President Truman on his swing through the northwest. It is also obvious from the bulletins put out by the Republican National Committee from day to day, during the President's tour, and from the formal counter-blast made by Ohio Senator Robert A. Taft.

SENATOR TAFT says he has never met any of the "greedy," selfish reactionaries" that President Truman is always talking about. Taft really considers himself a progressive. He takes credit for having sponsored the public housing and hospital construction programs passed by the 81st Congress.

Many of the things Taft says he stands for, the Democratic liberals can also say they support. For instance: An all-powerful U. S. armed force... liberty, freedom of speech, a proper minimum wage, protection of farm prices... better education, health, housing, security, elimination of hardship and poverty.

But Senator Taft claims there is a difference in his approach to these things. He wants them only if they can be obtained by avoiding—in every case except public utilities—"the deadening regulation of government bureaus attempting to fix prices, practices, and quotas in free industries."

Liberals may properly object to this Taft analysis of Truman's methods and of what the President wants for the country. Taft indulges in considerable exaggeration. Truman does the same thing in talking about the reactionaries. That's politics and only to be expected, if you know how to take it.

In no sense, however, can Truman be called a conservative. His speeches all through the west were booster stuff. He advocated everything being bigger and better—dams, crops, programs, benefits, income.

The specific items in the Truman program to which Senator Taft objects most strenuously are the Brannan farm plan, national health insurance, government taxing and spending of 25 per cent of the national income, the $6,000,000,000 deficit, the International Trade Organization, reduction of tariffs and repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

Senator Taft is also against Alger Hiss, hushing up of the Amerasia case, Kansas City crime, John Maragon, General Vaughan, Mayor Curley, Henry Wallace, Harry Hopkins, Yalta, Potsdam and the "pro-Communist policies of our State Department," which he says placed Russia in a position where it is a threat to the world.

It is largely an anti-Truman program. Everything that Truman is for, Taft is against—except, perhaps, Truman's idea that every family should have an income of $4,000 a year by 1960. Taft seriously says he doesn't see why it couldn't be $5,000—under certain conditions. Of course, Taft doesn't believe it could be $4,000 under Truman's program. But Taft's bid of $5,000 does top what he calls Truman's "vague promises."

Health To You

Pollens Start Hay Fever

THE season for hay fever is about to begin.

Some unfortunate people start with their sneezing and running noses in the early spring and keep it up almost continuously until late fall. This deplorable situation is usually the result of being sensitive to a great many different things.

In many areas trees are the first of the pollens likely to cause trouble. These are followed by the grasses—and occasionally other plants pollinating at the same season—and ending up with the ragweeds which are the worst of all.

The tree pollens are not as common sources of difficulty as either the grasses or the ragweeds. Although the pines and their relatives are great pollen producers they do not usually cause allergic symptoms. Most of the hay fever caused by tree pollens can be traced to the hardwood trees and to some of the shrubs.

Pollens from beech, birch, cottonwood, aspen, alder, and willow are closely related and are fairly common causes for allergy. Of course, they pollinate at different times and are absent from some parts of the country.

In general, however, April and May—earlier in southern sections and later in northern ones—are the months in which these tree pollens are most likely to cause trouble. Walnut, hickory, butternut and pecan belong to the same family and they too are sources of difficulty in a sensitive person.

The pollen of the American elm is a fairly frequent source of difficulty. This tree is related to hemp and is likely to prove a source of trouble in March and April.

Oaks are probably the most important of all the trees so far as allergies are concerned. There are many different kinds of oaks and they pollinate longer than most trees. They grow over a great part of the country and they shed a lot of pollen. When there is a question to sensitiveness to tree pollen, the pollens from several different kinds of trees are generally used in skin testing.

Unpleasant as hay fever from the tree pollen may be, it is not as serious as that from ragweed, the usual season for which is in the late summer and early fall. Not so many people are sensitive to tree pollens, the season is likely to be shorter and the symptoms are often milder than those from fall hay fever.

Like other pollen sensitiveness, it is possible to prepare a mixture of tree pollens and inject it into a sensitive person often thereby bringing about relief of symptoms. Whether the effort and cost are worthwhile, however, has to be decided in each individual case.

Breaking Out In A New Place—

Merits Of House Budget Cuts Argued

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

HOW much money would be saved under the single package $28,901,240,165 appropriation bill approved by the House is a matter Republicans and Democrats dispute. There's serious doubt, too, whether its economy features are practical.

The measure includes two last-minute amendments the GOP House leaders say will mean a $1,000,000,000 saving in the year starting July 1. Democratic Chairman Clarence Cannon of the Appropriations Committee calls the claim "extravagant and preposterous."

Here's what the amendments do:

One places a top limit on the amount the various departments and agencies may spend on salaries, travel, communications, printing, rent and utilities. It's an across-the-board slash, not a cut in specific budget items. Republicans predict it'll chop off $600,000,000.

The other change would prohibit the filling of 90 per cent of federal job vacancies after July 1. The aim, of course, is to reduce gradually (and painlessly) total government personnel. A saving of $400,000,000 is forecast.

Admittedly this is a way of cutting down without making the lawmakers wince too much. A vacancy doesn't scream out in protest as does a discharged employee. Federal officials estimate 200,000 workers would eventually be eliminated from the payroll by this device. Some observers fear this indiscriminate method of effecting reductions might gravely impair the efficiency of some departments.

Nevertheless this plan is not without some merit, when you consider the need for economy and the politician's reluctance to authorize outright firings. Senator Douglas of Illinois, a careful student of federal economy, suggested the idea some months ago. There's far less to be said for the other limitation. An arbitrary limit on salaries may actually compel discharges in some agencies before money-saving vacancies develop. A ceiling on travel or printing may be too liberal in one department and too severe in another.

Any agency's expenses have to be viewed as part of a whole and related to the agency's general purposes. The decision to reduce specific outlays is the job of Congress, which alone can take the responsibility for the overall functioning of a department. This amendment passes the buck.

Possibly, thought, proposals of this character are the best we can look for in a Congress that applies great lung power and little action to the economy problem.

Exhibit Of Horrors

By TRUMAN TWILL

YOUR attention, ladies and gentlemen! This is an exhibit of garden and lawn tools. Contrary to a popular impression, civilization still had not made much headway among Americans by the middle of the 20th century.

They were still drooling over instruments of torture—refinements of the sadistic implements copied from earlier times when men practiced the art of breaking bones and tearing muscles to shreds under franker names.

Whereas this subtle art of inflicting pain formerly had been practiced with whips, hot lead, burning oil, fire, the wheel and the rack, Americans with their wholehearted devotion to self-deception now called instruments of torture by such bland names as hoes, rakes, spades, weedeaters, cultivators, lawn mowers, lawn rollers and pruning shears.

Commercial displays of these implements invariably drew crowds, especially during the merry month of May, truly an ironic combination of mirth and pain. Take the spade, for example. Note the short handle and the cruel blade. Hard as it is to imagine, ladies and gentlemen, Americans used to use these things.

It is not stretching the truth to say many of them spaded themselves under, in the delusion it was healthful exercise.

East River

By HAL BOYLE

Portrays New York At Best

IT FLOWS FOREVER by my door, and I wish I could share it with everyone in the world.

The river that moves back and forth before my door, a creature of the moon tides, is named for a prosaic point of the compass—it's the East River. But to me, and I don't know how many countless thousands of others, it is a silvery ribbon that ties together the tang of the earth's four corners.

It wraps the world in a salty flavor and brings it home to us who dwell on land but love the wonder of rolling water.

Fire and water are calming things to the human spirit, which by nature is as restless as either. But having known both, I'll swap a fireplace anytime to have a view of a river.

AND THIS East River is a special river, one of the busiest waterways of the world. To study the ships that ply it is an education in itself. They come from everywhere, and they go everywhere, and they carry everything that anyone could want—fuel, oil, freight cars, caviar, buttons, tractors, warm woolen clothing, fair ladies on foreign holiday, and people just sightseeing around Manhattan.

The river, like any other living thing, has its moods—bright, sullen and work-a-day.

For three years I have been watching it from an 8th floor apartment window, and I never know when I love it best—in sunlight or slanting rain, by the gleam of dawn or the magic of midnight, when the lighted ferries shuttle silently across the blackness like caterpillars carrying lanterns.

At any hour this clean swift river shows New York City at its best. It has movement without monotony, purpose without push. There are no traffic jams upon its broad highway, and the vehicles that swim across it follow a rule of the road as old as the law of the sea. They do a big duty with small noise. Maybe that's why people have more respect for ships than taxicabs.

At night it is a guessing game to tell the strange craft that float by, and what their missions are as they plough a moonlit river of mystery. I like to look from a darkened window and wonder who is aboard them, where are they going?

AND IN THE cold clear morning the shabby tugs chug seaward, trailing garbage snows loaded with the debris of civilization, or noising a battered freighter into a channel that leads like a winding string to a port 3,000 miles away.

Below them are eels and crawling things and old men-of-war sunk in the American Revolution and the bones, perhaps, of a few men wrapped in concrete during prohibition days and dropped to the bottom for the wonderment of fishes.

That is the river I love... the East River... the only one I really know, although I was born by the banks of the muddy Missouri. And as long as I live, if I can choose where I live, I'll be in a place that has a window that looks down upon a river.

What makes a river so restful to people is that it doesn't have any doubt—it is sure to get where it is going, and it doesn't want to go anywhere else.

New Deadlines Face Board

Election Force Works On New Requirements

The Columbiana county election board staff is working against three new deadlines as it prepares for the Nov. 7 general election.

Along with routine work, the board has these major jobs in the next four months:

Registration of East Liverpool voters, closed before the primary, has been resumed and the books will be open through Sept. 27.

Compiling recommendations from party committeemen, the board will name 726 precinct judges and clerks Sept. 1 for new one-year terms beginning Sept. 15.

Close filings Aug. 9 for independent candidates for the fall election.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, pointed out that six officials three from each major party, will be appointed to staff each of the county's 121 polling places.

Recommendations are being listed as they are received from precinct committeemen all over the county.

Mr. O'Hanlon explained Aug. 9 is the deadline for independent candidates to enter for county offices, as well as the last day for nonpartisan aspirants for district judicial seats.

Because the so-called Massachusetts ballot adopted through a constitutional amendment will be used for the first time in Ohio this fall, Secretary of State Charles F. Sweeney has asked Gov. Frank J. Lausche to call the legislature into special session to make needed changes in election laws.

However, if the legislature does not convene, the secretary of state's office is expected to issue a set of regulations to cover conduct of the election, Mr. O'Hanlon said. Thirty-two sections of law covering elections were amended by the change in ballot form, but they remain on the statute books.

Ohioan Opposes Draft Bill

Not Convinced Of Extension Need

WASHINGTON, May 22—(AP)—Rep. McGregor (R-Ohio) says he will fight a bill to extend registration for the draft when it comes before the House.

"They haven't convinced me they need the draft when they have virtually stopped enlistments in the armed services," McGregor told a reporter.

"If the armed forces want more men, why don't they see how many will enlist? Why, I had to get mad and do a little howling recently when they rejected an Ohio boy for enlistment in the Navy, apparently because he wasn't a college graduate." He said the boy finally was accepted by the Navy.

The bill in question would continue registration for the draft, but would forbid the actual drafting of men without permission of Congress.

Rep. Elston (R-Ohio), a member of the armed services committee which approved the bill, said the measure "is all right in its present form."

"If war came," he said, "Congress could quickly pass a law allowing the start of inductions through Selective Service. Having a backlog of registrations would save months of time."

Elston was among those who helped to block a bill proposing that decision to start inductions be left to the military.

Youth, 21, May Have Set Circus Fire

COLUMBUS, May 22—(AP)—University Hospital physicians today will check a 21-year-old roustabout believed to be a "good suspect" in the circus fire that killed 168 persons.

After the physical examination, Robert D. Segree of Circleville (Pickaway County) will be examined by a psychiatrist at a state institution.

Arson investigators in the state fire marshal's office say that Segree thinks he started the Ringling Bros. Circus fire at Hartford, Conn., July 6, 1944. But, they add, there are blank spots in his story.

They hope a psychiatrist will be able to help Segree remember details he says he can't remember.

Reuther Checking On Toledo CIO Veep

TOLEDO, May 22—(AP)—Walter Reuther has promised to listen to evidence against Richard Gosser, says a leader of the revolt here against the CIO United Auto Workers International vice president.

Harold Billheimer, who heads the Toledo Scale Co. unit of UAW's local 12, said the UAW President met briefly with two promised to hear their assertions within 10 days. Billheimer asserted a union committee headed by Emil Mazey "whitewashed" Gosser. Mazey is the international's secretary treasurer and was sent to Toledo from Detroit for an investigation.

"The evidence we gave the Mazey committee about Gosser's dictatorial operations is being ignored," Billheimer claimed. Still on strike are 11 women does collectors at the local's headquarters who are protesting what they called "Gosser's interference." At a meeting Friday, the local voted that they should return to their jobs. The meeting showed a majority of the local backed Gosser.

More than 130 celebrations and other special events — including some 30 of the nation's top sodas — are held annually in Colorado.

Farm Girls Rival City Cousins With Homemade Wardrobe

By DOROTHY ROE
A. P. Fashion Editor

The modern Maud Muller has no hayseeds in her hair.

She's as fashion-wise as her city cousin from the tip of her manicured toes to the top of her curly head. She keeps up with the latest trends in fashions via radio, television, newspapers and local sewing classes, makes her own clothes, dresses her own hair and presents a pleasing picture of Miss 1950.

Typical of the millions of farm girls who participate in community activities is pretty, blonde, 17-year-old Patricia Mahin, daughter of a grain farmer of Chalmers, Ind. Patricia is one of the 46 state winners of the recent National 4-H Club Dress Review Award, presented annually by the Simplicity Pattern Co.

Patricia began her sewing career when she received a miniature sewing machine as a gift at the age of five. She progressed from doll clothes to dresses for herself. For the last six years she has been taking dressmaking courses and has developed a fine fashion sense. She likes simple styles, handsome fabrics and insists on perfectly finished seams.

In addition to her sewing skill, Patricia finds time for voice lessons, horseback riding and all the activities of her County 4-H Club.

She is photographed wearing four new outfits she made for her spring wardrobe—simple, youthful styles every girl can make and wear.

PRIZE DRESSMAKER . . . Patricia Mahin, Indiana winner of 4-H Club dress award, poses in home-made dotted Swiss jumper dress.

DATE DRESSES . . . Pretty Patricia chooses sprig calico for a square dance dress with flatter-ing full skirt, shirred in tiers, which she made in a few afternoons at home. At right is her dance dress for important formal parties, which she made of embroidered eyelid pique over taffeta. Seventeen-year-old Patricia has been making most of her own wardrobe for the last six years.

SEPARATES . . . Shipped, done with elastic throat, finishes Patricia's easy-to-sew blouse and skirt in plain print cotton.

Coal Into Gas Process Shown

100 Tons Converts Into 150 Barrels

LOUISIANA, Mo., May 22—(AP)—A new demonstration of making gasoline from coal was begun here today by the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Each day about 100 tons of coal, ground nearly as fine as talcum powder, is converted into about 150 barrels of gasoline, plus 50 barrels of useful oils. This is done by adding hydrogen.

This demonstration aims to show that synthetic fuels made from coal can, when needed, supply the oil and gasoline necessary to America's future economic welfare and military security.

The demonstration also is designed to show that these new fuels offer the coal mining industry an escape from diminishing returns and will insure the coal miners' steady work.

This gasoline can be made at the mines for year-round sale. The Bureau of Mines says this process should lower the costs of mining and transporting coal, which will be turned into oil and travel by pipeline instead of railway.

The plant here is an American version of the coal hydrogenation process long used in Europe, but shows how synthetic gasoline can be made more cheaply than abroad. This is the first plant in the United States. It covers several acres of ground, but is only demonstration size. A full-scale plant would produce 10,000 to 30,000 barrels a day.

This work is done as future progress in the direction of Congress. The Bureau of Mines does not predict when the synthetic fuel may be as cheap as natural gasoline.

But the Bureau reports that its coal-gasoline might now be made in a full-scale plant, using $3.12 a ton coal, for fourteen-and-a-half cents a gallon, including a small profit. Comparable grades of gasoline are selling at 11 to 15 cents a gallon. All these figures are tank-wagon prices.

Cheaper coals can make good gasoline at 11 to 13 cents a gallon.

Matron Explains Her Action Against Artists

HARTFORD, Conn., May 22—(AP)—Mrs. Hester R. McCullough today resumes her witness stand story of why she tried to have entertainers Larry Adler and Paul Draper barred from an appearance in her home town.

The 32-year-old Greenwich, Conn., matron was in the midst of her recital last Thursday when federal court recessed for the weekend.

Adler, a harmonica player, and Draper, a dancer, are each suing Mrs. McCullough for $100,000 libel damages, alleging she falsely accused them of being pro-Communist in sympathy.

In a published letter, Mrs. McCullough said the entertainers "openly supported" at least nine organizations branded as subversive by the U. S. Attorney General or other governmental agencies.

The civil libel trial is now in its sixteenth court day.

The jury of eight women and four men already has heard the entertainers deny they were Communist, pro-Communist or fellow travelers.

Cleveland Population Gain Estimated At Fifth

CLEVELAND, May 22—(AP)—The 1950 census is expected to give metropolitan Cleveland's population an increase of some 20 per cent over 1940 figures.

That was the prediction yesterday of Edwin P. Slabaugh of Detroit, supervisor for the Census Bureau's Ohio - Michigan area.

The 1940 census included the metropolitan area which then included Cuyahoga and part of Lake County was 1,214,943.

In the 1950 census, however, the metropolitan area includes all of Lake and Cuyahoga county. Under Slabaugh's estimate, this area should show about 1,464,943 persons when the new census count is released.

The first official estimate will be given Mayor Thomas A. Burke by census officials next month.

The herrings are marinated in this sauce; beat a cup of olive oil and a cup of prepared mustard together until the consistency of mayonnaise. Add 1 cup coarsely chopped fresh dill, juice of a lemon, 4 tablespoons strong vinegar and a tablespoon each of freshly ground black pepper, white pepper, salt and allspice, and two tablespoons sugar.

Cove, the filets of herring with this sauce and stand in refrigerator three or four days. Serve with thinly sliced red onions and sprigs of fresh dill. Don't forget the pumpnickel. Ernest, headwaiter since 1912, recognized me. He was on the faculty in my salad days. "Do you still remember our 'hamburger Luchow'?" Could a man forget! It's top sirloin ground with raw marrow.

Hamburger Luchow

(Serves 8)

Three pounds top sirloin steak, ½ pound beef marrow (extracted from bones), ½ pound white bread (crusts removed), 2 raw eggs, salt, pepper, shake of nutmeg.

Grind meat and marrow together using medium blade. Add seasoning and raw eggs. Moisten bread and squeeze out. Mix all ingredients. Shape into patties and fry or broil. Note: If you do not have a full ½ pound of marrow make up the difference with kidney fat.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 22—(AP)—Searchers found the body of Dr. John Lewis, Youngstown, O., in Lake Rideau, 30 miles north of here. He was a member of a fishing party of three which disappeared Friday.

Since the doctor's clothing was scorched badly, searchers believed an explosion may have occurred aboard the trio's motor launch. Still missing were John R. Drew of Smith Falls, Ont., and William Lake of Portland, Ore.

OFFERS TO PAY FRIENDS IF HADACOL DOESN'T HELP

HADACOL HELPS SUFFERERS OF VITAMIN B1, B2, Niacin and Iron Deficiencies

Mrs. Wallace tells her granddaughter, Maynell Wallace, over the phone how HADACOL brought relief to her.

Mrs. Belle Wallace, 449 Formwalt Street, S. W., Atlanta, Ga., is so grateful to HADACOL for the blessings it has brought her that she has recommended HADACOL to a number of her friends. She told them she would pay for their bottles of HADACOL if it didn't help them. She explains with a smile that she hasn't had to pay any of her friends, because HADACOL has helped them.

Mrs. Wallace, who is 74 years old, has five children, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren. She was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Mrs. Wallace said: "I couldn't sleep or eat until I started taking HADACOL. It'd lie awake and toss and turn until the small hours of the morning. I was highly nervous. I couldn't even be taking HADACOL, my nerves are as steady as can be. I never eat because when I did my stomach would puff and bloat and fill with gas. I am on the 7th bottle of HADACOL and my stomach is so much better."

Appetite Good

"I have a good appetite and my stomach does not bloat or fill with gas. I sleep like a log. I have recommended HADACOL to a number of friends and have told them that if it didn't help them, too, I'd pay for it, but I didn't have to because HADACOL did help them. HADACOL has done me more good than anything I have ever taken."

Akron East Wins District Class A Track Championship

Brilliant Glenn Young Wins Four Firsts; Breaks 2 Marks

East Palestine's marvelous track man, Glenn Young, almost stole the show Saturday from the well-balanced Akron East High runners, who captured the annual Northeast Ohio district Class A meet championship at Reilly stadium. The Orientals scored 45 points to comfortably edge East Palestine, second with 37½.

But the big story was Young, who turned in his most brilliant performance. Coach Bill Ward's protegee raced to victories in the 100, high hurdles and low hurdles and tied for first in the broad jump—a feat which old timers at the meet swore had never been equaled.

Young broke records in both hurdle events, running for highs in 14.7 and the lows in 24.8, both of which were the fastest times he ever recorded.

Salem High's team finished in ninth place, with 12½ points, in a record breaking field of 25 teams. Their outstanding performer was Jay England who captured first place in the discus, with his season's best throw of 142 feet, nine inches. Since individuals and relay teams finishing 1-2-3-4 in each event qualified for the state meet in Columbus Saturday, Salem will have four representatives make the trip.

In addition to England, Paul Provis will go on the basis of his third in the mile run; Johnny Votaw for his tie for third in the pole vault; and Capt. Lige Alexander for his third place tie in the high jump. The four boys scored all of Salem's points.

AKRON EAST, coached by Cliff Casenhiser, presented a well-balanced team and had met too much trouble taking the meet, as predicted. They scored first in the 440, 220, 880 and got a tie for another in the high jump. The Orientals scored in five other events, as well.

The winners' best boy was Waldo McCray, who was the only other double winner in the meet. He copped the 220 and 440 and placed third in the 100.

Young was at his all-time best, and only a fluke prevented him from taking four-clear-cut firsts. His tie with Joe Williams of Niles in the broad jump was highly unusual. After leaping 21 feet, 4½ inches, Young waived his first jump to conserve his strength for following events. However, Williams topped his mark by a bare ¼ inch on his next try, hitting 21-5. Young was forced to come back for another jump and he too leaped 21-5. Jump Judge Lowell "Rib" Allen measured the jump several times before declaring it an absolute tie.

As it turned out, Young scored 23 points by himself. His team collected a first in the mile relay, with Herrington and Dudas running the key laps. Previously the pair had finished 2-3 in the 440 behind McCray.

YOUNG'S FEATS were doubly impressive when it is pointed out that the boy ran nine (9) races during the morning and afternoon, having to go through prelim and semi-final heats in each of his track events. In best case, his final race was his best. He will probably be held out of the 100 in Columbus, since the strain of too many heats will surely tell on him in the fast company he'll be up against.

The team scoring: Akron East 45; East Palestine 37½; Akron North 18½; Akron South 17; Struthers 16; Canton McKinley 15; Akron Buchtel 12½; Niles 11; Ravenna 7; Barberton 6; Youngstown North 5; Wooster 2; Cuyahoga Falls and Warren 1½; Massillon 1.

Youngtown Chaney, Mentor, Tallmadge, Canton Lehman, Fitch, Boardman, Alliance and Akron Garfield failed to score.

Clipper Raps 5 Hits In Double Victory

By JOE REICHLER

All's well with the New York Yankees now that Joe DiMaggio is back on the team. Apparently all both DiMaggio and the Yankees needed was a change of scenery.

A sweep of the doubleheader in Cleveland yesterday, 14-5 and 12-4, established the world champions more securely than ever in first place. With a record of 20-8, they're better off than they were a year ago today when they had a 19-10 mark.

Washington's 6-2 triumph over Detroit and Chicago's 4-3 victory over Boston after the Red Sox had won the opener, 7-0, gave the Yanks a two and a half game bulge over the second place Tigers and a three-game edge over the Red Sox.

When the Bronxites left the usually friendly confines of the Yankee Stadium a week ago Sunday they were in second place and DiMaggio was in the midst of one of the worst batting slumps of his career. He was batting .225.

Once on the road, DiMaggio began belting like the hitter of old and the Yankees wasted little time climbing to the top. They've won six straight with one more to play in Cleveland and two in Detroit.

The leading figure in the Yankee surge has been DiMaggio. In the six games Joe collected nine hits in 23 times at bat for a batting mark of .391.

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers' lead in the National League was cut to a half game when Philadelphia's Phillies divided a doubleheader with the St. Louis Cardinals while the Cincinnati Reds were noosing out the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Boston's Braves moved into a third place tie with the Cubs, winning two from the Cards 3-2 and 4-3. Pittsburgh moved past the Cubs into fifth place, sweeping both ends of a double header from the Giants in New York, 4-2 and 8-6.

Philadelphia and St. Louis split an American League twin bill, the A's winning the second game, 8-3 after the Browns had won the opener, 11-6.

DiMaggio enjoyed his biggest day of the year yesterday as he batted in eight runs in the twin bill. A crowd of 79,570, third largest ever to see a major league game, saw Ed Lopat and Allie Reynolds each win his fourth game for the Yankees. Bob Feller and Early Wynn were the losers.

Conrado Marrero, a pint-sized 5-7 Cuban right-hander, who toiled for Havana in the Class B Florida-International last year, stopped the Tigers with three hits for the Senators.

LEFTY BILL Pierce snapped a seven-game losing streak for the White Sox with a seven-hitter against Boston after Ellis Kinder had shut out Chicago on four hits in the opener. Bill Wight, Kind-er's opponent, allowed only seven hits, but one was a three-run homer by Walter Dropo.

Catcher Joe Garagiola was the hero of the Cards' 6-5 triumph over the Phillies in the first game. He hit a single and two doubles and drove in a run. In the first inning after the Phils' Ed Waitkus took a third strike, Garagiola whipped the ball to third to nip Richie Ashburn. A quick relay to first caught Gran Hamner off the bag for a triple play.

Johnny Sain registered his sixth triumph for the Braves in the 3-2 victory over the Cubs. He pitched six scoreless innings to raise his string to 24 shutout frames before Chicago scored in the seventh.

Ralph Kiner slammed his eighth home run for Pittsburgh in the first game triumph over the Giants and followed with a 475-foot triple in the second game win.

"I Was About Due" Says Happy DiMag

CLEVELAND, May 22—(AP)—CLEVELAND's battered Indians face the unhappy prospect of meeting Joe DiMaggio and the New York Yankees tonight at a time when the world champs are at top form.

After the long Sunday doubleheader was over at 7:30 p. m., DiMaggio relaxed and allowed a broad grin to replace his usual poker face. He batted out two homers and driven in six runs in the first game. One of the homers was a grand slam. In the second game, he had hit twice and made a sensational leaping catch of a ball Luke Easter thought was surely starting him for a round trip.

"I was hitting so lousy, I couldn't help breaking out," DiMaggio declared. "And then this field is 100-1 better for me to bat in than Yankee Stadium."

In 10 trips to the plate he hit five times. One was a double. He got credit for eight runs batted in.

On hand to watch was the third largest crowd in American league history and about 35 per cent of it was from out of town. There were 22 special trains and more than 200 buses from points as far away as Buffalo, N. Y., and Columbus, O.

TWO BROWNS SIGN

CLEVELAND, May 22—(AP)—Defensive Back Warren Lahr and Guard Lin Houston have signed contracts for the 1950 season with the Cleveland Browns professional football team, Coach Paul Brown announced today.

Illinois Bowler Rolls ABC 757 Set

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—(AP)—Last night was a big night at the American Bowling Congress tournament with a new singles leader rolling to the fore and a new team "popping into fifth place.

But the night also held a king-size disappointment. The Tavern Pales team of Chicago, boasting such hotshots as Buddy Bomar and Ned Day, shot an abysmal 2804 to land far in the ABC rack.

The new singles leader is Everett Leins of Aurora, Ill., who is rolling in his first ABC tournament. In the last game of the team event, he came up with a mighty 110, and, as he phoned his wife:

"A guy who's been bowling 25 years should quit if he can't do better than that."

But he could do better than that. After he wapped the pins for 228-266-263-757 a gargantuan single series, he decided to stick with the game, "at least for another year."

That 757 was the second best singles ever scored in the ABC and the sixth highest series ever rolled in any ABC division. All-time high for the singles event was a 774 shot 20 years ago by Larry Shotwell of Covington, Ky. Leins' 757 is likely to win the 1950 singles title which carries with it a $500 cash prize and a diamond-studded medal.

Wrestling Matches Set For Thursday

Encouraged by the enthusiasm with which his show was received last week, Frank Julian announced today that another wrestling card will be presented at 8:30 p. m. Thursday in the Memorial building.

As his feature attraction, Julian himself will tangle with Duke Keomuka, powerful 215-pound Japanese-Hawaiian grappler. The two recently staged a thrilling match in Dayton, which was televised and watched by local fans.

Also, Julian is wrestling back Mae Young, who brought in last week's show. She will be matched against either Neil Stewart or her previous opponent, Eva Lee. Fred Bozic of Cleveland is to return, this time meeting the Black Phantom, another TV favorite.

Tickets for the card are on sale at local sporting goods stores.

Two singles and drove in two runs in the nightcap.
Pitching — Conrado Marrero, Senators—Yielded only three hits in pitching the Senators to a 6-2 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Sammy Snead Wins Western With 282

LOS ANGELES, May 22—(AP)—Sam Snead is still too good for the rest of the nation's pro golfers.

If the fact, needed any proof, the West Virginian provided it again yesterday by winning the $15,000 Western Open golf championship for the second year in a row.

It wasn't as sensational as his 20-under-par performance at St. Paul a year ago, but it was plenty good enough. It added another $200 to his bank account, and boosted his tournament earnings thus far this year to $17,720.

His winning score was 282, only two strokes under par for the windswept, 6802 yard Brentwood course, whose narrow fairways put a premium on a "long straight ball. That's what Snead hits most of the time and it gave him just enough of an edge to hold off E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Jim Ferrier, who each came in with 283.

Questions and Answers

Q—When were railway dining cars introduced?
A—The first ones were operated between Philadelphia and Baltimore in 1863. There were two of these cars, each fitted with an eating bar, steam box and other restaurant fixtures. The food, however, was prepared at the terminal stations and placed on the cars.

Goshen Seniors Hear Rev. Robert Mosher

"Trading in Life's Market" was the topic of the sermon delivered by Rev. Robert E. Mosher, pastor of the Damascus Friends Church, at the baccalaureate services Sunday for 36 members of the Goshen Union High School graduating class at the school.

"Use well the ability you have. It is what we do with what we have that sets us apart from others," Rev. Mosher said.

"A boy or girl born in poverty need not feel inferior. We in America believe the road is open from the log cabin to the White House."

"Have you been faithful in the use of what you have had? Either use it or lose it. The only way is to give Christ his rightful place in your life," the pastor said.

Rev. E. K. Bars, pastor of the Damascus Methodist Church, read the scripture lesson, and prayer was given by Rev. Harley Bowman of the East Goshen Church. Two anthems were sung by the girls chorus of the school.

Commencement exercises will be held at 8:15 p. m. Friday at the school. Rev. David Molyneux of Flint, Mich., former pastor of the Salem Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker.

The graduating class will make a trip to Washington D. C. June 1-4.

VOTE ON CITY TAX

DAYTON, May 22—(AP)—Dayton voters will decide Tuesday on whether the city should collect a one-half of one per cent income tax. The tax would go into effect July 1, if approved. A majority of votes cast is needed for passage. Last March 8 the Ohio Supreme Court declared a similar tax invalid because it had not been approved by the voters.
